LOOKS CAN BE DECEIVING

With all the excitement of the Senior class, you might have thought they beat the the Juniors during the Powderpuff game.

During the fall of 1992, this year's yearbook staff was searching for the perfect theme for the 1993 Fitchburg Boulder. We wanted something that would describe Fitchburg High to the exact point. After days and days of searching for a theme we finally came up with "Looks Can Be Deceiving."

We think that "Looks Can Be Deceiving" is a perfect theme because of the many occurrences that have happened in the past. People have a habit of stereotyping F.H.S. in some of the most ridiculous ways, such as: "whites and blacks exiting the school from different doors, violence being justified in the hallways, and losing its accreditation.

If you just take a few minutes out of your time to think about what the school has to offer for its students, you will realize that there is more to F.H.S. than everybody anticipates. Such as; expanding the science labs, and renewing the library, to provide a better education for the students.

"Don't judge a book by it's cover!"

Nichole Tousignant smiles on the way to collect her owners during Maid and Butler day.

Tannisha Brice models the latest style in head wear.

A Splash of Class Spirit

Seniors painting the rock has always been a tradition that has been held in high standards by each class. On October 27, we climbed up to the rock with old clothes and paint brushes, waiting for our chance to make our mark as seniors. We sat on the rock and talked with everyone for about an hour, then the paint arrived.

Seniors group together for a quick pose on the rock.

It was more fun to splash a paintbrush full of paint on your friends than to put the paint on the rock. Those of us who were without brushes didn't hesitate for one moment to throw their hands into the buckets of paint, either to add to the numbers on the rock, or to leave their marks on their friends.

When our masterpiece was finally completed, the letters were shaped funny, and lopsided. It didn't matter though, because we had placed our mark as seniors, the class of 1993.

Clinging to the edge of the rock, Sean Donohue takes a moment from painting just to smile for the camera.

Lisa Penski anxiously awaits for the orange pass to begin.

"What a work of art!" Kim Cook and Matt Marsh put the finishing touches on Leah Conways hair.

"Wanna dance?" Matt Dionne dips Natalie Blais in an attempt to steal the orange, during the "Orange Pass" game.

Creamed Again.

The title "Senior Reception to the Faculty" may be deceiving. It seems it would be an extremely boring event, but the reception is a time for seniors to let loose and act like kids again.

This year the Senior Reception was held on October 7 at Siam Park. The festivities began at 5:00 p.m. But since the senior football players were late due to their daily practice, this delayed the large group activities. While waiting for the players to arrive, we divided into teams and started playing volleyball and kickball.

Adrian Perez smiles as he watches one of the many events of the Senior Reception.

Once everyone had arrived, the games began.

First we started with the egg toss, which turned into an egg fight. Then once everyone settled down and cleaned up, Mr. Cucchiara and Mr. Conlee decided to "fire up the grills" to cook the hamburgers and hot dogs.

"On Your Mark, Get Set, Go!"

But before anyone could sit down to eat, someone pulled out the shaving cream, and so began a "frisky" battle. Once the shaving cream and whipped cream was terminated, we pulled out ketchup and mustard and basted it onto each other. Unfortunately, all the supplies were gone, and there was nothing left to throw. Things became calm while everyone sat under the tent eating their food.

After everyone finished eating, we brought out the watermelon, for the watermelon eating contest, someone brought out the bucket of jello, and the jello eating contest began. The first person to find the slice

Brenda Miranda walks off the field after a long afternoon of excitement.

"Oh no you don't!" Lenny Cooper stops Margie Pierce in her attempt to attack him with shaving cream. "Again!"

Matt Leone calmly waits while Natalie Blais and Kristen Contuzzi give him a little color.

"I want to suck you blood" Damaris Rivera laughs as Souvanna Sommala tries to pass her an orange in the orange passing event.

of hot dog hidden in the jello, won. By the time the contests were over, it was already dark outside, but that didn't stop us from heading back out onto the field to play "Dizzy Bat". In this game, we divided up into two sets of three teams, each member of the team would spin around the bat several times, run to the other team, tag someone, and they would do the same. The team that finished first would win.

When they finished "Dizzy Bat", it was late, so we headed back under the tent and started cleaning up the mess we created. Once the park was cleaned, we all headed home because we had school in the morning.

The Senior Reception is an event, which the students, and faculty will always remember. A time where we came together as a family.

Sean Donohue, Leah Conway, Brandon Stover and Nichole Tousignant prove that "looks can be deceiving" with their differences in style.

Looks of '93

If you had seen us enter Creative Studio with bags in our hands, your first thought might be, "It looks like they're moving in!" Especially with the three massive bags of clothing Nicole Tousignant was willing to share. But the truth to the matter was, all fifteen of us were getting ready to prepare for a few hours of changing and exchanging items of clothing for a photo session.

Right: Seniors in their summer wear.

The first shots taken were the formals. The girls dressed up in elegant dresses and the guys looked sharp in tuxedos. In the beginning most of us were camera shy, but when the music started, everyone loosened up.

When we finished shooting the formals, we then changed into the flannels. Posing in different positions, forming human pyramids, falling on top of one another. After the flannels, we did casual wear, hats, business wear and summer attire.

After the last shot was taken, three and a half hours of loud music and tons of clothes, we were hungry. We decided to go out for Chinese and talk of our experience.

Fitchburg High School's annual homecoming game was held on Nov. 6, 1992. Although late in the season the game against superbowl rivalry North Middlesex started with a boom, and so began the evening. Everyone met at the high school and anxiously awaited for all of the cars, band members, and cheerleaders to start our long, yet freezing journey to Crocker Field. We arrived a little earlier than planned and the crowd awaited. We drove around the track with our suits and gowns on, in what felt like 0 degree weather, yet

Booster Club

Every Thursday evening during football season, the Booster Club assembled in the cafe with paper, paint, and school spirit. Under the direction of Mr. Sullivan, we painted the banners with witty messages that would hang in the cafeteria as words of encouragement for our team. Decorating the cafe was something that we looked forward to doing before football games. Seniors should have been awarded for their creative messages, which were especially witty this year. Who could ever forget, "Seniors, pull down those Boxers and get some!"

Yearbook

Beginning in September and ending on the last day of school in June, the yearbook room is always buzzing with activities. It goes without saying that the production of a 208 page yearbook is a challenging project. This undertaking involves a tremendous amount of effort on the part of the yearbook class.

Forty students signed up for the yearbook class in the spring, but twenty students were selected to take on this huge responsibility. These select few are responsible for the production of the book you hold in your hands. These members sold candy bars, raffle tickets, advertising and ran a concession stand at basketball games to raise monies for the book. Besides fund raising the staff had to write articles, captions, student write-ups and headlines. Mastering the operation of a computer, how to load film in a camera, use a cropper and figuring out how to number photos on a layout all became second nature to this hard working staff.

When the final pages were boxed and sent out a huge sigh of relief was heard coming from the yearbook room on the third floor as the 1993 Boulder was finally put to rest.

This was the last Cross Country season at F.H.S. for four dedicated seniors, Carrie Bloxson, Marci Cheries, Tania DeLibertis, and Sascha Rosebush, all of whom had been running for their equally dedicated and enthusiastic coach, Mark Ambrose, since their freshman year. It wasn't the most successful season, but it certainly was a memorable one. There were many great performances and a few tough losses.

Back at newly renovated Coggs Hall Park for their second dual meet of the year, the girls suffered a tough loss against rival Shrewsbury. It was the team's first loss in four years and it upset them terribly, but they did not allow themselves to give up. Teams with a coach like Coach Ambrose don't give up. Running miles and miles each day, whether it be raining or the sun shining, listening to Coach Ambrose's corny jokes and his pep talks, the girls continued to work hard, and it paid off. Coach Ambrose, assistant coach Kathy Horvarth, and an undying spirit kept the girls going. They went on to win the remainder of their dual meets, and beat Shrewsbury twice later on in the season. Two incredible freshmen runners, Kristy Pappas and Danielle Brideau played key roles in the team's success. The team's varsity top seven consisted of Bloxson, Pappas, Brideau, Delibertis, Cheries, and juniors Kathleen Gabriel and Aimee Boutillette.

The team placed a close second at the Nashoba Invitational, finishing just four points behind Nashoba Regional.

F.H.S. was victorious at the Mid/Watch Division A championship, beating Shrewsbury and therefore clinching the title as League Champions for the fourth consecutive year (at least). Bloxson, Pappas and Brideau were all named to the Mid/Watch League All-Star Team.

The toughest meet of the year was the District Meet at the Gardner Golf Course. This year the team simply seemed to have a bad day and unexpectedly didn't even qualify as a team for the state meet. The top three teams go, and they tied for third with Shrewsbury, but they lost the tie-breaker by one point. Though, as always, Bloxson, Brideau and Pappas ran strong races to qualify individually for the state meet. There were many sad faces that day, it was a tough loss to take, and the girls knew that they were better than they had run on that day, but on the whole they had a great season and nothing to be ashamed of. It was a great season for everyone, and it capped off a wonderful four years of F.H.S. Cross Country for the seniors.

Boys Cross Country

The Fitchburg Red Raider Boys Cross Country team had a great season once again. Unlike the past, where seniors were known to dominate the team, this year it is a pair of juniors - Tom Paine and Greg Reeves. Captain Sean Donohue, a four year member gave the Raiders the added strength they needed. Although they were a very young and inexperienced team, they went 8 - 0 for the season. They were first place in the Mid/Watch League, second place in the Wachusett Invitational, second place in the districts and fourteenth place in the states.

Other seniors who dedicated their efforts to the 1993 Cross Country team were Captains Souvanna Sommala and Brian Ginnity. They had a memorable career running for F.H.S. In the end, the constant hard work of the team and the great coaching paid off.

J.V. Field Hockey

The 1992-1993 Varsity Field Hockey team have a great deal to be proud of. Last year our Field Hockey team lost almost every game, but this year it was a different story. This year we ended our season at 7-5-3.

Toward the end of the summer many old and new faces brought their talent to Memorial Middle School to start off a new Field Hockey season. Spirits were soaring and our desire to win was in the air.

We won our first three games, but we lost the next two. Our spirits began to sink. But with an immense amount of determination and the support from our coaches, we gave it our all.

On Tuesday, October 27, 1992, our season came to a dramatic closing. To many of the players it was just the last game of the season, but to the nine seniors it marked the end of their career in F.H.S. Field Hockey. It was a season of hard work and many memories.

Our season was a lot of hard work, but also a lot of fun. No one can forget the sensational three, Lauren's "pink" hair, Margie playing in the field instead of goalie, when Shelbie scored, beating North Middlesex and the tremendous job Becky O. did in goal.

Varsity Football Cheering

Spirit! Let's go! F.H.S. alright! That's what cheering is. This cheering squad is definitely unique. These girls have amazing talent and give their all to be the best. Competition is the toughest part of cheering because many hours go into the preparation.

Cheering is not all jumping and yelling. It's a sport just like any other. Competition does not bring much support, but this year, we were very pleased that a few football players came to give the squad the support that they needed. The girls did the best they could with both attitude and appearance.

During the football season, before the big T-Day game, the squad decorated the Senior football players' lockers. They were surprised the next day to see the candy and notes left by us. The Wednesday before Thanksgiving, the boys stayed in the locker room and watched a movie. The cheerleaders snuck in and decorated the room with crate paper, cake, cookies, etc... The boys enjoyed it and thanked us the next day. This year we raised our own money and finally got new uniforms. They look great and should last another fifteen years!

Turkey Day Game

"Fitchburg Takes the Day", "Williams Leads the Raiders", and "Raiders don't 'Chicken' out" are just a few of the many headlines that were in the local newspapers the day after the big game.

After six straight wins by Leominster, Fitchburg finally seems to be taking over. With a 14-0 victory in 1992 at Doyle Field, Fitchburg was victorious once again, this time with a close 14-13 win at Crocker Field. This was the first time in twenty years that Fitchburg won back - to - back games in the annual Thanksgiving Day Game.

We all hope that this rivalry will never lose its spark, and that Fitchburg will be victorious for many more years to come.

Superbowl Game

Looking back at the Division 1 Super Bowl it is not difficult to figure out why North Middlesex won and the Fitchburg Red Raiders lost. One needs only to go back and figure out who won the key matchups.

The battle between Patriots' quarterback Mark Hancock and Red Raider defensive ends Tim Cannon and Tom Wade was a standoff. But that was to North Middlesex' advantage. Hancock was able to go about the business of running the offense without much interference.

The Mike Dawson-Ryan Keenan match never materialized as the Patriots never threw a pass. But Dawson helped the running game with his strong blocking.

North Middlesex halfbacks Jamie Holston and Matt Kingsley clearly won their tussle with F.H.S. linebackers Torrance Graham and Jeff Caputi.

The touchdown pass aside, Fitchburg quarterback Mike Beaulac was not able to connect with Ish Gelpi as often as he would have liked. Coverage fell to the Pats' Rob Lavery and he did a solid job.

F.H.S. fullback Bobby Williams (11 carries, 53 yards) did damage in the first half against Omar Connor and Dawson. But for assorted reasons, Williams was not a factor in the second half.

F.H.S. tailback Zack McCall had a decent game yardage wise with 74 yards on 16 carries but he fumbled a couple of times and missed connections with Beaulac on a handoff, possibly because he has trying to hard to make the big play his team needed. Final thoughts the F.H.S. Red Raiders were simply out played by a very fine North Middlesex team on this day.

Varsity Boys Basketball

The 1992-1993 basketball season began with great anticipation. The fact that we had done so well last year, and many of the key contributors to that team were juniors, left high expectations for another great season in all of us.

The year started just like the previous one, with our football players getting a late start on the court because of their successful year on the field. We won our first two games before entering the Nashua High Christmas Tournament.

We lost the first game of the tournament and won the second to finish third. We then won our next game before being beaten severely by Milford at Milford for the second consecutive year.

As the season progressed we seemed to make every game interesting and we just barely squeezed by Wachusett in overtime before getting our revenge on Milford at home, and defeating North Cambridge Catholic to repeat as Mid/Watch Division A champs.

We defeated Wachusett at home in the first round, and went on to easily defeat Shepherd Hill at W.P.I. in the semi-finals. We were scheduled for a re-match against St. Johns whom we defeated last year for the District championship, on a Friday night, but the game was snowed out and rescheduled for Sunday afternoon.

We ended playing our worst game of the year on Sunday and our season was ended premature to our expectations, but all in all, we had a great year. We finished with a 20 - 3 record and had a year that most schools would die for, so we really can't complain.

The Girl's Indoor Track team is one of the most talented and dedicated groups of ladies in F.H.S. Their hard work and consistent effort has led them to be one of the most feared and respected teams in the Mid/Watch Division.

During the football season, senior captains Tannisha Brice, Kate Young, Jennifer Jones, and sophomore member Kara Pearson could be seen working up a sweat in the weight room or running laps at Crocker Field, already preparing their bodies for the torture that lay ahead.

As November 27th came closer, more and more feet could be heard, trying to get a "running" start on the season. When practice did finally begin, the Lady Raiders were already in shape and ready for the future meets.

Their first meet came and the girls sprinted away with a 65 - 21 victory over Marlboro. The hours of lifting, Fartleks, sprint drills, and excruciating pain were finally paying off.

They continued on their winning streak defeating Algonquin Regional, Leominster, North Middlesex Regional, and Notre Dame high schools. However, the Lady Raiders' streak ended with two consecutive losses to their arch rivals, Shrewsbury and Wachusett Regional high schools.

Not only do the Lady Raiders excel as a team, but they also have tremendous individual performances.

Senior captain Tania DeLibertis achieved an All-Star performance which placed her in the All-Class State Meet in the mile. Junior Sunidnee Sanders led the team as top scorer with 126.10 points earned by her participation in the 50 yard dash, 300 yard dash, high jump and shot-put events. Newcomer Danielle Brideau gained All-Star status in the two mile, placing fourth in the State Class C Meet.

The girls went on to place third in the Mid/Wach Relays, Leagues, and the District E Class Meet, once again behind Shrewsbury and Wachusett. Although third in place, they continue to remain number one in spirit. These ladies are definitely on the right track!

Boys Indoor Track

The 1993 Boys Indoor Track team got off to a good start. They defeated Marlboro, 80 - 6 in their first meet of the season.

Then it all fell. They came in last in the Mid/Watch Relays, then lost to North Middlesex, St. John's, Shrewsbury and Wachusett in just three short weeks. The following Saturday, they won over Algonquin, but lost to Leominster.

When February came, it was a whole new month in which they could turn over a new leaf. The Mid/Watch League meet didn't go as bad. They came in fifth place out of seven teams. In the District E Invitational, they placed third out of fifteen teams. For the State Class C meet, the Raiders placed sixth out of twenty-five teams.

This season, some athletes had personal problems to deal with, which Coach Woods said, "Was remarkable to overcome." When asked to describe in one word what the Indoor Track team meant to him, Coach Woods answered, "overachievement." He went on to explain that dual meets are dual meets, and it's not until the Leagues and States that athletes tend to give it their all. The Fitchburg High Boys Indoor Track team was definitely strong when it needed to be.

A Special Dedication

For nearly a century of teaching years William Michaels, Dante Lepore and D. Robert Romano have served the students of Fitchburg. Bill Michaels has taught the youth of the city the concepts of mechanical drawing and drafting, these students have left Fitchburg High School fully prepared in this area to further their careers in engineering and the trades. Students of Dan Lepore have mastered the concepts of Debit and Credits in the area of accounting. His low key approach to this subject has left his students well prepared for the business world. Anyone passing by the faculty parking lot on a warm spring day and seeing the back end of a car jacked up would only wonder what was taking place. Only those from Mr. Romano's Driver Ed class know the true answer. Besides driver education, O.E.T., or being the driving force to raise monies for lights at Crocker Field are just a few of the accomplishments made to the students of Fitchburg by this teacher of over thirty-five years. It is with great pleasure that we the Class of 1993 dedicate these two pages to these three men. Best of Luck in your retirement.

Dan Lepore instructs Jeremiah Cohen in math at the annex. Dan has been a math, accounting instructor at the high school for twenty five years.

For over twenty five years Dan Lepore has served the students of Fitchburg High School as a business teacher.

Administration

The administration is the backbone of a high school. The administration directs, advises, supervises and disciplines. The administrators of F.H.S. do their jobs to the fullest extent, starting with Mr. Bernard Welch, the principal. Mr. Welch has been working in the high school for over 20 years. He provides the school with capable and intelligent teachers, and organizes groups such as the Student Council.

Next are our Vice-Principals. Michael Hurd who has been with the high school for 4 years, and our newest administrator, Vice-Principal Bernard DiPasquale, both are in charge of the disciplinary action in the school.

Although busy with disciplining and directing, Mr. Welch, Mr. Hurd, and Mr. DiPasquale still find time to support their students by attending athletic games and social activities, and improving the quality of life at Fitchburg High School.

Guidance

The Guidance department of F.H.S. consists of four very qualified counselors. Starting at the top, the senior guidance counselor is Linda Valeska. The senior counselor has more responsibility than the others. Besides arranging schedules and giving advice, Ms. Valeska has to deal with college applications. Ms. Valeska, along with her secretary Mrs. Conry, write and type recommendations and make sure all applications are out on time. The junior counselor is Mr. Hastings, and he deals with S.A.T.'s. The sophomore counselor is Mr. Gastonguay, and he deals with those sophomores needing schedule changes and those who need help. Last but not least is Mr. Woods, the freshmen counselor. Mr. Woods has his hands full with all of the new students entering F.H.S.

Miscellaneous

The Miscellaneous Department contains a wide variety of subjects, from Child Development to the Marching Band. These teachers make up a great part of F.H.S.

In between concerts, parades, football games and countless other events, the F.H.S. band manages to rehearse five times a week. Mr. Dymek thrives on a good show. So, the band occasionally practices after school, too. The exhausted musicians have tremendous talent and are always entertaining.

Ms. Cap's Art students spend long hours of hard work on their projects which are displayed both in the school and various competitions.

Phys Ed

The athletic department at Fitchburg High School is made up of a number of caring individuals who enjoy seeing students excel. They keep the students on their toes to participate in physical education and encourage them into joining the after school sport teams. In the past years one didn't have to do much of anything in gym except change. Now, they have a new fitness program that they make everyone participate in, such as having the girls walk down to Crocker Field and run the stairs and run two laps around the track. The boys are being timed for a one mile run and spend time in the weight room lifting. Gym class isn't what it used to be.

Secretaries

The secretaries of F.H.S. have always done an exceptional job, in both handling correspondences and managing the routine of both faculty and students. Dedicated, helpful, and reliable are some of the first few words that come to mind when describing this hard-working staff. From attendance to typing, they do more than one can possibly imagine. Although our appreciation may not always be apparent, we are truly grateful for all that they do.

Cafeteria

The cafeteria workers of F.H.S. are hard workers. Although sometimes students don't show appreciation toward these hard-working women, we are all appreciative for all that they do for us. They serve us breakfast, they provide us with full meals that many people may not be receiving at home, and they make sure that all of the vending machines are full. These women are here early in the morning preparing the lunches of the day until the afternoon after they have finished cleaning up the kitchen. They always put in a full day's work.

ESL or English as a Second Language, is a course that provides students who are unable to speak the English language with the opportunity to learn it.

The ESL Department is very encouraging to their students. They always have the time and patience to teach their students until they become a victor of the English tongue.

Even though teaching one of the most difficult languages to learn can be very stressful, it is also very rewarding, not only for the students, but for the teachers as well.

The different courses include Graphic Arts, architectural and Mechanical Drawing, and Woodworking. The dedicated students will represent the future carpenters, mechanics, and architects. The highly qualified staff includes Mr. Alario, Mr. Michaels and Mr. Moge. The work and projects the students do will serve as a stepping stone for later on. With the help of the talented staff, the students will come closer to their future careers.

Foreign Languages

We all know we need at least two years of a foreign language for a good college education. The F.H.S. Foreign Language Department provides students with a few options of which language they'd prefer, such as: Spanish, Latin, and French.

They make these languages interestingly fun with their unique style of teaching, which is always quick to grab your attention.

Whether you're a novice or expert, you can enjoy a taste of foreign reality.

Every time we open up our math book, we always ask ourself the same ol' question, "What is the purpose of this?" Ask this to any member of the Math Department, and you'll be sure to get a never-ending answer.

This group of fine educators is always willing to make learning math fun, even through the most difficult obstacles of the course. Besides being great teachers, the F.H.S. Math Department make great friends, who are always willing to cheer you up with their high level of eccentric humor.

Business Department

Even though Fitchburg High School was built in 1936, the Business Department is up to date, with its addition of a second computer lab.

It is recommended that students take Typing or Keyboarding during their Freshman or Sophomore year. Why? So that later on they know how to type English papers or write ups, or take Computer and/or Word Processing courses that are invaluable in College or in the Work Force.

Social Studies

It is said that we learn about our past history to ensure we do not repeat our mistakes. Well, make no mistakes when it comes to the Social Studies Department at F.H.S. Made up of seven hard-working, dedicated teachers, they ensure that each student gets the best education possible. Mrs. Milbury heads this team of knowledge and experience.

Students are given a range in which to carry on their interests in Social Studies. The subjects offered are from a wide array of areas. With the recent investments in new textbooks, many classes have been able to enhance their curriculum. I'm sure everyone will agree that this team of great teachers will make History at F.H.S. a course to remember.

Science Dept.

At a glance, the Science labs at F.H.S. appear worn out, and to some, even archaic. Don't let the quality of the Science rooms deceive you, for in these classrooms, quality teaching and learning are constantly present.

Although the labs are indeed old, supplies limited, and money scarce, the F.H.S. Science teachers make learning possible and always find ways to bring life to their classes.

An appreciated and needed addition to the Science Department this year is six new micro computers set up in Mr. Dignam's room. The computers make the student's lives easier, and are a great addition to the Science Department at F.H.S.

Class Song

"SAYING GOOD-BYE

Words & Music by Daryl Johnson and Julie Girouard

VERSE I

On our first day, we were scared and insecure
Look to the future, are we sure of knowing
Which way to turn?
Though, this our different world
Is no longer home,
As we leave the red and gray
To make it on our own.
Soon we will leave,
With our friends we're now to-gether,
We are proud to sing aloud-
We're the class of Ninety-Three!

VERSE II

Where will we go? Will we see ourselves together;
Where will we go now,
We will soon be going our separate ways.
But no matter where we go,
We can always say-
All the good times that we had
With the red and gray.
Now, as we leave, we will think of "her" forever,
Now we say good-bye to you,
"Our dear old Fitchburg High!"
